

Laois Partnership Community Leadership Training for New Communities

In 2018, Paul facilitated a 4-part “Community Leadership Training for New Communities” training programme for Laois Partnership in Portlaoise. Pauls training style was very sincere, informal and participatory which was perfectly pitched for the group in question.

He was entirely comfortable working within a multi-cultural group and made everyone feel comfortable and at ease. Paul consistently maintained a culture of respectful communication and facilitated many healthy debates while ensuring all members of the group were given a chance to voice their opinions.

The group thoroughly enjoyed the sessions and feedback was resoundingly positive. Participants reported that they felt more confident and equipped to take on leadership roles in their respective communities.
